

My provider, Comcast needs to hire real tech support people with technical experience instead of using customer sales personal. Network could be better and needs to be re-engineered.